P R E F A C E.

*T*H E kind Reception which this Scheme of a Methodical MEMORANDUM-BOOK met with from the Public, invited, as usual, many Interlopers, under the pretence of Alterations and Amendments, to interfere with the first Proprietor in the Profits of it. This induc'd him last Year, in order to preserve to himself the benefit of his own Project, to try if it could really be alter'd for the better ; and he has Reason to think, from the Opinion of several of his Friends who use it, and from the great increase of its Sale in the past Year, that it is not only improv'd, but render'd greatly preferable to any of those who have pretended to imitate it. And to shew that he is not unmindful of his Promise, that it should Yearly receive every possible Improvement which might contribute to render it either more useful or entertaining, he has now begun a Chronicle of Daily Occurrences for the preceding Year ; which, if the Public approves of it, shall be annually continued. This Chronicle, as the Book is oblig'd to be publish'd in November, must necessarily commence from the

the end of October 1751, and will conclude the end of October 1752: and as some Days will afford several Articles, and others none at all, the Faëts are number'd so as to ascertain the Days on which they happen'd. By this means the Journal which a Man may keep of his own particular Transactions, will be always accompany'd with the contemporary Occurrences which happen around him, and with which his own Affairs are in some measure connected. And if it should happen, on a review of his Conduct, that any Person shall be struck with the mortifying Consideration of his own uselessness and insignificance to the Public for the Year past, (and I am afraid it might happen to a terrible Number should they fairly the make experiment) I hope it will excite in him a generous Emulation to become more worthy in himself, and more useful to others, that he may hold for the future a more conspicuous rank in that Community to which he belongs.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf from an old book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and a dark smudge near the top center. Faint horizontal ruling lines are visible across the page, and a vertical margin line is present on the right side. The page is otherwise empty of text or illustrations.

An Account of PORTUGUESE MONEY and Value Sterling.

THOSE of gold are the Milleray or Millree, so called as being the Value of 1000 Rees, and with us is the Quarter Moidore.

The Moeda d'Oro, or, as we call it, the Moidore, is properly their Pistole: Above these are the Doppio Moedas, or double pistole, the Joannes single and double, and Ducat of fine Gold.

Their silver Coins are the Cruzada, Pataca or piece of eight, and Vintem. The Ree is of copper, and equal to 3 fifths of a farthing sterl. The Vintem is 20 Rees.

The Cruzada is 400 Rees, or 20 Vintems, about 2*s*. 10*d*. sterling.

The Millree is 1000 Rees, with us the quarter moidore, and 6*s*. 9*d*. sterl.

Sterling Value l. s. d.

The Moeda d'Oro, or pistole ———— 1 7 0

The Doppio Moeda, or double pistole (or two moidores) 2 14 0

The Joannes single, with us the thirty-six shillings piece 1 16 0

The Joannes double, with us the three pounds twelve piece 3 12 0

A Ducat of fine gold is five Portugal pistoles or moidores 6 15 0

An Account of FRENCH MONEY * and Value Sterling.

A Denier is equal to three-fourths of a farthing sterling

A Double equal to 2 Deniers.

A Liard equal to 2 Doubles and an half, or 3 Deniers.

A Sol, or shilling, equal to 12 Deniers, and something more than an halfpenny sterling.

A Livre is 20 Sols, 8 Liards, 120 Doubles, 240 Deniers, and ten pence halfpenny sterling.

The old Ecu, or crown, is 3 Livres, 60 Sols, and two shillings seven pence half-penny sterling.

The new Ecu, or crown, is 6 Livres, 100 Sols, and 4 s. 6 d. sterl.

The Louis d'Or, or, French pistole, is sixteen shillings sterling.

* The French use the word Tournois, to distinguish their money from others, in the same sense as we do the word Sterling, to distinguish ours from foreign or counterfeit. And as the King, it is to be observ'd, frequently raises, or lowers the current value of the coin, without altering it intrinsically, its currency is sometimes more and sometimes less, as he pleases.

EXAMPLE.

First, at 4 d. 3 q. the pound, what is the great hundred? look in the table for 4 d. 3 q. in the first column (being the bottom line) and against it in the second, you shall find 2 l. 4 s. 4 d. and so will 112 pound cost. Again, if a hundred weight cost 4 l. 8 s. 8 d. find 4 l. 8 s. 8 d. and against it, in the column towards the left hand, there you shall find 9 d. 2 q. and so much it is by the pound.

Note, For every farthing that one pound doth cost, reckon two shillings and four pence, and that is the price of the great hundred.

The Rules, Orders, and Rates of Hackney Coachmen, and Chairmen.

COMMISSIONERS.

Francis Capper,
John Philpot,
John Cookson,
Thomas Bond,
John Soley, Esqrs.

Thomas Nuthall, Receiver.
Thomas Nuthall, Secretary.
John Pye, Solicitor.

BY an act of parliament, renewed in the 5th and 6th years of King William and Queen Mary, it is appointed that no hackney coachman shall presume to take for his hire in or about the cities of London and Westminster, above ten shillings for the day, reckoning 12 hours to the day; and by the hour not above 18 pence for the first hour, and 12 pence for every hour after: Nor for his hire from any of the inns of court, or thereabouts, to any part of St. James's, or Westminster, (except beyond Totbill-street) above 12 pence, and the like from the same place to any of the inns of court, or thereabouts; nor from the inns of court, or thereabouts, to the Royal Exchange, more than 12 Pence; but if to the Tower, Bishopsgate-street, Aldgate, Thames-street, or places thereabouts, 18 pence, and so from any of these places to the inns of court aforesaid. To or from any place not mention'd in the act, the fare is 1 s. for a mile and half, for 2 miles 1 s. 6 d. and so on: And if a coachman is kept in waiting, it is at his own choice whether he will be paid by the distance, or the time. If any coachman shall refuse to go at, or exact more for his hire than these rates, he shall for every offence forfeit 10 shillings.

The number of coaches is 800. 50 l. fine, and 4 l. per annum must be paid for a licence for 21 years.

One 4th of the number, viz. 200 to ply every Sunday.

Complaints are heard every Thursday at the office in Surry-street in the Strand, from ten to twelve, and from four to six.

By another act made in the second year of Queen Anne, the major part of the commissioners are empowered to license 800 hackney-coaches for 32 years, from the 24th of June 1715, to drive within the parishes and places comprised within the bills of mortality. Each coach to be marked with its number on tin plates of the breadth of 6 inches and a quarter, and the length of 9 inches and a half, to be fixed on each side the coach: And every proprietor to pay the weekly sum of five Shillings, to be paid monthly to the receiver of the office.

Rates for Hackney Chairmen.

LET it be observed as a general rule for chairmen, that they are obliged to go the same distance for eighteen pence, which the coaches perform for one shilling, which is one mile and an half; and if the distance exceed not one mile, their fare is one shilling. Any one refusing to go, or exacting more for hire than the limited rates, is liable to forfeit forty shillings for every offence. The number of licensed chairs is four hundred.

The rates and orders for Carmen, as they are settled at the general quarter sessions of the peace.

ORDERS for CARMEN.

1. THE carmen for the foregoing rates are to help load and unload their carts.
2. If a carman exact more than the rates aforesaid, upon due proof before the lord mayor, or any two justices of the peace, he shall suffer imprisonment for the space of 21 days, without bail or main-prize.
3. If any merchant, or other person, shall refuse to pay a carman his hire, after these rates, upon complaint made by the carman to the president of Christ's Hospital, or any justice of the peace, the president or justice may oblige him to pay it.
4. All merchants or others may chuse what car they please, except such as stand for wharf-work, tackle work, crane-wrok, shops and merchants houses, which are to be taken in turn.
5. Every carman standing with his empty car next to any goods to be loaden, shall upon the first demand load the same, without bargaining for any other wages, than the rates before-mentioned.
6. If a merchant, or other person, shall cause a carman to attend at his house, shop, warehouse, or cellar, with his loaden car, above half an hour before he unloads, (the carman being willing to unload the same) he shall pay the carman after the rate of 12 pence for every hour after the first half hour for his attendance.
7. Every licensed carman is to have a piece of brass fixed upon his car, upon which is to be set a certain number, which number (together with the carman's name) is registered in a register kept in Christ's Hospital: That so, if any carman offends, it is but taking notice of the number of his car, and by that you will find his name in the register.
8. Every carman that shall not conform to these rules, or work without a numbered piece of brass fixed on the car, may be suspended from his employment.
- N. B. Complaints of the abuses of carmen may be made every Tuesday at two o'clock in the afternoon to the court, sitting in Christ's Hospital.

R U L E.

Multiply the Sum by the Number of Days; and that Product by the Rate per Cent. then cut off the two last Figures to the right Hand, and the rest you must find by the Table.

Examp. What is the Interest of 100l. for 365 Days at 4 per Cent.

N^o of Days 365

The foregoing TABLE shews what any Salary, from 40,000 a Year, to One Pound a Year, comes to, for a Day.

EXAMPLE I.

What does an estate of 9500 per ann. produce in a day?

	l.	s.	d.	f.
By the table 9000 per ann. is per day	24	13	1	$\frac{1}{2}$
500 per ann. is per day	1	7	4	$\frac{1}{2}$
9500 l. per ann. is per day	26	0	6	$\frac{1}{2}$

To cast up servants wages for any number of days,

RULE.

Multiply the yearly salary by the number of days, and collect the answer to the product out of the foregoing table.

EXAMPLE II.

What does 28 days salary amount to at 73 l. per annum?

Multiply 73 a year
by 28 days

584
146

Collect 2044 out of the table.

	l.	s.	d.	f.	100 parts
2000 comes to	5	9	7		27
40 comes to	0	2	2	$\frac{1}{2}$	21
4 comes to	0	0	2	$\frac{1}{2}$	53

2044

The answer is £ 5 : 12 : 0

What does a servant's wages come to for 27 days at 6 l. per ann.?

Multiply 6 a year
By 27 days

Collect this 102 out of the table.

	l.	s.	d.
100 comes to	5	5	$\frac{1}{2}$
2 comes to	0	1	$\frac{1}{2}$

102 Answer 5 : 7

The annexed table is recommended by Sir Isaac Newton, as shewing with very little trouble, the value of reversions, or estates in reversion.

EXAMPLE I.

To find by it how to renew a lease of 21 years, that hath but one year elapsed, at the rate of 7 per Cent. Look into the table, under the rate of interest mentioned, and right against 21 years, in the common angle of meeting, you have 4*s.* 10*d.* which is the fine to be paid to renew one year lapsed in the said lease, supposing the rent to be 1*l.* per Annum. For it is 21 years before the lease is compleated, in which time the fine of 4*s.* 10*d.* will amount to 20*s.* and therefore by paying that fine, the lease may fairly be made up again.

EXAMPLE II.

Suppose an estate in fee simple whose real value is 100*l.* but it is mortgaged or leased out for 30 years; what is the reversion of it now worth at 6*l.* per Cent. Interest? By the table you find that 1*l.* to be paid 30 years hence, is worth but 6*s.* 2*d.* $\frac{1}{2}$. and multiply that by 100*l.* the value of the estate, you will find that 100 times 6*s.* is 30*l.*; 100 times 2*d.* or 200 pence is 16*s.* 8*d.* and 100 times $\frac{1}{2}$, or 300 farthings, 6*s.* 3*d.* the whole sum of which is 42*s.* 11*d.*; which is the present value of 100*l.* to be paid 30 years hence.

Of Annuities for Lives.

THE way generally used in buying annuities, or letting of leases for lives, is only an imaginary valuation grounded upon custom, and not upon any consideration that is had to the ages of the persons whose lives are to be inserted in the lease; thus for the valuation of 2 or 3 lives, it has been usual to reckon 1 life as a lease of 7 years, 2 as 14, and 3 as a lease of 21, and to compute the present worth accordingly.

Now, tho' there can be no certain rules prescribed for their true valuation, yet as there is not only a greater probability for a young man's living longer than an old man, but likewise a proportional likelihood of the length of men's lives, according to their different degrees of age, due regard should be had to the likelihood of the continuance of the lives. Dr. Halley from curious observations of the births and burials at the city of Breslaw, the capital of the province of Silesia in Germany, hath deduced the following table, which shews the number of persons that were living in the respective ages annexed, and thereby gives us an account of the chances of mortality at all ages. For

21	592	42	427	63	212	84	20

If the number of persons of any age, remaining after 1 year, be divided by the difference between that and the age proposed, it shews the odds that there is, that a person of that age does not die in a year; thus of 567 persons living of 25 years of age, there remains 560 at 26, therefore 'tis 560 to 7, or 80 to one, that a man of 25 does not die in a year. Again the number of persons 47 years old, is 377, and 40 years 445, the difference is 68, therefore 'tis 377 to 68, or 5 and $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1, that a man of 40 does live seven years. Likewise the number at 30 years old, is 531, the half of it is 265, which is found to be between 57 and 58, therefore a man of 30, may reasonably expect to live 27 or 28 years.

And hereby the price of insuring lives ought to be regulated; for it is 100 to one that a man of 20 dies not in a year; and but 38 to 1, for a man of 50 years of age.

From hence, and from other observations, he constructed the following table, shewing the value of Annuities for every fifth year of life to the 70th.

Age	Years Purchase	Age	Years Purchase
1	10,28	40	10,57
5	13,40	45	9,91
10	13,44	50	9,21
